

STRATEGIC COACH

Hannah McQueen

Financial Adviser
Chartered Accountant Fellow ANZ
Bachelor of Commerce
Master of Taxation Studies

WHAT HANNAH'S CLIENTS SAY

"You empowered me to achieve something I never thought possible"

"I thought I was pretty good, but there is no way we could have achieved what we have done with you"

"I was energised by the potential that hannah was able to unlock"

"I can't believe you got away with saying that to my partner!"

Once you've met Hannah, you'll understand why people often describe her as 'a financial force of nature.'

There's no doubt as to Hannah's expertise – her list of qualifications is long, not to mention she's a best-selling personal finance author, media commentator, the founder of enable.me, and developed a mortgage optimisation formula with the university of Auckland's Dr Jamie Sneddon.

But what really sets Hannah apart is her ability to make financial matters relatable, help people to understand what's possible, and inspire them to achieve it.

Since founding enable.me in 2007, Hannah's goal has been simple – to not only improve people's financial position but improve their lives.

Thousands of clients will attest to the fact she's achieved that in spades. Their only complaint is they wish they'd met her 10 years earlier! With her strategic nous and boundless appetite for 'better', Hannah McQueen is someone everyone could benefit from having in their corner.
